

Supermarket Pregnancy

Story: NARRATOR (Katy) is pregnant after a one night fling a month prior to the story. However, she doesn't know. But her supermarket knows because they have been analysing the things she eats and the stuff she watches online.

POV: Katy, however, one has to assume that all of the footage was "shot" and "remember" and thus accurately recalled by the services that determined she was pregnant.

Story Arch: Katy calls client service after receiving a strange email. Then we go into flashbacks of what happened a few days before she received this email and what happened a month prior to it (aka her being with her male friend). Ends with her writing her friend

Script

BLACKSCREEN, Thursday.

We can hear a phone ringing from the caller's side. Titles pop in, in baby pink and baby blue to set the tone of "pregnancy" theme.

Supermarket Client Service OPERATOR Elise picks up the phone to find a distressed NARRATOR on the other line.

OPERATOR

Goodmorning, you are speaking with Elisa from the Albert Heijn supermarkets client service how can I help?

NARRATOR

Hi, yes, you're eh, you're speaking to Katy. I am eh, calling because I received a uhm.. strange email from client service and I was just wondering whether you could verify this email. You know just to check it is not a scam or a joke.

OPERATOR

Okay miss, could you read out the email address?

NARRATOR

clientservice@albertheijnsupermarkets.nl

OPERATOR

after a pause

Yees, that is ours, could you tell me what the topic of the email is?

NARRATOR

... It's about a 50% off deal ...

OPERATOR

The pregnancy or the condolence deal?

NARRATOR

The former

OPERATOR

Oh! Cehvfgvongratulations miss on your pregnancy!

NARRATOR

What?

OPERATOR

So this deal is valid until your third trime...

NARRATOR

Okay excuse me but why the fuck do you think I am pregnant?

CUT to Narrator reading the email from Albert Heijn. She received 50% off on one of her shopping sprees because she is pregnant. She does not know that she is pregnant. She finds this out whilst Mozart's Lacrimosa is playing since "lacrimosa" means mournful in order to express Narrator's emotions. JUMP CUTS.

CUT TO how the supermarket knew Narrator was pregnant:

WHITE SCREEN with Week Before in right upper corner.

WHITE SCREEN with Thursday in right upper corner.

CUT to Narrator online grocery shopping. She only buys junk food.

FRIEND 01 (in background)
What the fuck are you doing?

NARRATOR
Mind your own!!

WHITE SCREEN with Sunday (Morning) in the right upper corner. Whilst watching a youtube morning yoga video Narrator throws up because of morning sickness.

WHITE SCREEN with Sunday (later) in upper right corner Googles "pain in stomach" and finds she may have a deadly disease.

CUT TO White Screen with "A month ago" in the upper right corner.

Narrator is researching sex positions as well as which condoms are best. Then she goes to Amazon to buy a packet of condoms and lube.

CUT TO a chat conversation between Narrator and presumably her boyfriend. Then of Narrator stalking a guy's facebook pictures. His face is cut off screen.

NARRATOR (to friend on phone)
No, no he didn't stay over. He left like right after cause has shift in the morning. But yeah exactly, I just wanted a second opinion I guess. Because we had condoms but he didn't want one and I figured right I'm on the pill I'm protected no harm right? But then this morning right? I wake up with a fever, and I haven't been able to hold any kind of food in and all sites like

Planned Parenthood say that the pill isn't effective anymore if you have been sick so I'm kind of, ughh I am so torn, like either take the chance and not take the morning after pill and save myself a tsunami of hormones or get the morning after pill tomorrow and feel even more sick for the next few days...

FADE to Black screen. Insert cuts of large tech brand logos and an investigation into which data Google collects and uses.